

Portlanders Want a Real Voice and Real Choices.

Our city hall works best when everyone's voice is heard. But sometimes special interest groups lobby so loudly, our voices get drowned out. That's why every Portlander should have a direct voice and vote on how we spend our city budget. When you say Yes for Your 2 Cents, Portland residents will get to decide how to spend 2% of the city budget. This means you can help shape how Portland spends 2% of our money – to make our neighborhoods stronger, and our city better.

A Proven Plan for Portland:

Builds on proven success of 7,000+ municipalities worldwide and 100+ U.S. cities like New York, Boston, St. Louis, and Seattle.

Expands promising pilots by Metro and youth in East Portland to bring community budgeting citywide across all neighborhoods.

Puts the power in residents' hands to vote directly on funding for education, public safety, homelessness services, and parks.

Brings residents together while making city government work better and improving our diverse neighborhoods and communities.

YOUR 2 CENTS PDX:

Do you want more street lights on your block?

Better neighborhood parks?

Public Safety programs?

Homeless services?

Afterschool activities or childcare?

You get to decide!

A youth jobs apprenticeship?

Hey Portland! What's YOUR TWO CENTS?

Deepening Local Democracy

1. What is Your 2 Cents Portland?

Your 2 Cents lets Portlanders directly decide how to spend 2% of the city budget. Residents deliberate and decide on projects—parks, housing, street safety, cleanup, childcare, and more.

2. Will this raise my taxes?

No. It simply dedicates 2% of the existing budget—money the city already collects.

3. Why is this campaign needed?

Right now, insiders and special interests dominate decisions. Your 2 cents gives everyday residents a direct say over a portion of the budget through a widely practiced process known as participatory budgeting,

4. What is Participatory Budgeting?

Participatory budgeting—PB—lets residents propose ideas, turn them into real projects, vote, and see winning projects funded and implemented.

5. Does PB work in cities like Portland?

Yes. Cities like Seattle, Chicago, St. Louis, and New York use PB and see better neighborhoods, stronger community ties, and more trust in government. Oregon pilots have also shown strong results. Now it's time to bring it citywide to Portland.

6. Where did this idea come from?

PB has been growing across the U.S. since 2009. Every major West Coast city except Portland has launched a PB process. Portlanders have pushed for it for years, but City Council hasn't acted. So community groups launched Your 2 Cents to let voters decide.

7. What happens if we pass Your 2 Cents?

The City Charter will require Portland to run a PB program every year. Residents propose and vote on projects, an oversight committee ensures fairness, and the City Auditor reviews it. Funding—about $16–17 million—starts in 2027–28, with the first full PB cycle by July 2028.

8. What happens if it doesn't pass?

Nothing changes. Special interests stay in control of spending decisions.

9. Can Portland afford this?

Yes. This is about who decides how money is spent, not spending more. City officials control 100% of the budget now—Your 2 Cents lets residents decide on 2%.
